Institute of Museum and Library Services

Community-Centered Implementation Projects

When applying to IMLS's Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program (LB21) or National Leadership Grants for Libraries (NLG-L), applicants can now select the Community-Centered Implementation project type.

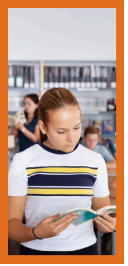

This project type:

- Enables more institutional or local impact projects, rather than national impact projects.
- Does not require applicants to develop new models.
- Is a good option for small or rural libraries, public libraries, school libraries, and archives.
- Does not require cost share.

Learn more at www.IMLS.gov/grants.

All grant programs are subject to the availability of funds and IMLS discretion.*

INSTITUTE of Museum and Library SERVICES

Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program

Community-Centered Implementation project type

- Applicants adapt existing models to support the recruitment, education, training, and retention of current and future library or archive professionals.
- Applicants must demonstrate how they will use or adapt the selected model.
- Project teams should share resources and lessons learned with library and archival professionals in other communities.

Learn more at www.IMLS.gov

National Leadership Grants for Libraries

Community-Centered Implementation project type

- Applicants adapt existing models to meet the needs of their institutions.
- Applicants must demonstrate how they will use or adapt the selected model.
- Project teams should share resources and lessons learned with libraries and archives in other communities.

Learn more at www.IMLS.gov